Dear Miss Strassman,

Enclosed are a summary of the assassination story and a brief biographical sketch. We have begun collecting material for the cookbook.

When and as I can, I'm adding to the research on the SST story. For example, yesterday I got the dope on one of the dramatic incidents I mentioned. This is a 1960 account of a previous single low-level pass over the new Ottawa airport it was helping dedicate by a single AF Starfighter (8/59).

"Like a bullet he was gone. And-boom-so was the new terminal, only splinters were left of more than $10,000 worth of glass; the whole north wall was smashed; tiles fell from the ceiling, and insulating material poured to the floor. Door frames, window frames, and even structural beams were twisted. Damage: $500,000."

I hope by the end of the week to send you a summary on "The Most Unforgettable Character."

And as soon as we can go shopping, I'll get a black typewriter ribbon!

Sincerely,

Harold Weisberg
